NEW YORK STATE COMPTROLLER DINAPOLI STATEMENT ON SUPPORT FOR CLIMATE CHANGE PROPOSAL AT EXXONMOBIL

New York State Comptroller Thomas P. DiNapoli, trustee of the New York State Common Retirement Fund, made the following statement in response to independent proxy advisor Glass Lewis' support for the shareholder proposal he co-filed with the Church of England at ExxonMobil. The proposal, which is subject to a shareholder vote at the company's annual meeting on May 25, asks ExxonMobil to assess how the worldwide effort to mitigate climate change will impact its business.

"We're pleased that Glass Lewis recommends investors vote in favor of our request that ExxonMobil take steps to address climate change," DiNapoli said. "Investors have a right to know how ExxonMobil plans to adjust to a lower carbon economy with reduced demand for its products. Companies that fail to address climate change, and the global effort to mitigate it, put themselves and their investors at risk."

In the weeks since the Securities and Exchange Commission rejected ExxonMobil's effort to strike the proposal from its annual meeting, several major institutional investors in the company, including Norway's $857 billion Government Pension Fund Global and the $293 billion California Public Employees' Retirement System, have publicly stated their support for the climate change proposal.
