Exxon Mobil Corporation's Response to the SEC Letter of May 4, 2006

December 31, 2004 Form 10-K December 31, 2005 Form 10-K

1. We note your discussion of sales of chemicals by your joint venture, Infineum, into Iran and Syria, countries identified as state sponsors of terrorism and subject to economic sanctions imposed in part as a result of their pursuit of weapons of mass destruction. Please advise us whether the sales were to the governments of those countries, or to entities owned or controlled by those governments. Advise us also whether, to the best of your knowledge, understanding and belief, the chemicals sold into Iran and Syria by Infineum have military application, including potential use in the production of conventional, chemical or other weapons.

With respect to Iran, all but one of the customers of Infineum were private entities to the best of our knowledge. The exception was a customer which is wholly-owned by the Iranian National Oil Company. With respect to Syria, all of the customers were private entities to the best of our knowledge. Infineum sales were fuel and lubricant additives developed for use in internal combustion engines. To the best of our knowledge the additives sold to entities in Iran and Syria were blended into fuels and lubricants used in motor vehicles. Infineum is not aware of these additives having been used in military applications. All of these sales were legal under the applicable U. S. laws and regulations.

2. We note also your discussion of ExxonMobil Sales and Supply Corporation's purchases of Syrian crude from independent third parties on a spot basis between 2003 and 2005. Please advise us of the terms of your spot purchases; the timing, to the best of your knowledge, of the exchange of funds and delivery of oil between the initial seller and your counterparty; the annual dollar amounts paid by EMS&S from 2003 through 2005; and whether your counterparties acquired oil directly from the Syrian government or entities controlled by the Syrian government.

The key commercial terms of EMS&S's spot purchases of Syrian crude from independent third parties during 2003-2005 are shown on the attached spreadsheet together with the total dollar amounts of such purchases for each year. These transactions were normal spot purchases of crude oil. During the time in question, and continuing to the present, it was and is legal under the applicable U.S. laws and regulations for U.S. companies to purchase Syrian crude oil, either indirectly through third parties or directly from the Syrian government or the government-controlled Syrian Petroleum Company ("Sytrol").

We have no information on the timing of the exchange of funds between our counterparties and their initial sellers. Except as noted below, our counterparties may have acquired the oil directly from Sytrol, but we cannot be sure of that from the documentation we have; nor can we be sure of the timing of the delivery of the oil between our counterparties and their initial sellers. For four of the transactions set forth on the attached spreadsheet, we have the information indicated in footnotes 4 and 5 to the spreadsheet.
